Where Else Can I Look Up Deaths?	12

INTRODUCTION

This guide is intended to show the variety of sources that might help you find your ancestor's date of death, which in turn might help you find an obituary or death certificate.

The Grosvenor Room does not have a comprehensive obituary index or database or one single source that lists everyone who died in the Buffalo area. Instead, there are multiple sources, including newspaper indexes, compiled indexes, and published lists, with small or large numbers of names. Almost everything listed in this handout will be found in the Grosvenor Room.

Keep in mind that there is no guarantee that a death notice or obituary exists. Many deaths went unrecorded, especially in the years before New York State had a vital records law (1880). There is no law that requires that a death notice or obituary be published.

This guide does not list our church records, many of which include the deaths of parishioners. For church records we have a separate list, Church Records in Microfilm and Print. See also these free handouts, which may be useful for your search:

- Cemetery Records for Erie County NY in the Grosvenor Room
- Church Records in Microfilm and Print
- Military History and Records
- Death Notices and Obituaries: Where to Look in Buffalo & Erie County Newspapers
- Vital Records in the Grosvenor Room
- Miscellaneous Genealogical Records in the Grosvenor Room

Shelf locations are always subject to change. See staff for assistance in locating material.

CARD FILES	NOTES
Local History File	A card index to local newspapers and periodicals that cites articles about people, places, and things in the Buffalo area. The most thorough coverage is from 1930-1982, with hit or miss entries for earlier and later dates. It includes obituaries, but death notices are rare. The Local History File is continued by the Western New York Index (see Books, above). The Local History File may also lead you to an obituary in one of our scrapbooks. Search by your ancestor's name (lastname, firstname) to find an obituary. Also try these headings if they are applicable to your ancestor: Accidents Automobiles. Accidents Deaths Drowning Explosions Fires Murders Railroads. Accidents
Vital Index of Early Western New York Families	A card file maintained by the Western New York Genealogical Society (WNYGS), which cites names found in their collection and in records held elsewhere. Mostly 1800s.

DATABASES

NEWSPAPERS: BUFFALO NEWS & COURIER EXPRESS

Buffalo (Evening) News* on Microfilm, 1881 to present

(Buffalo) Courier Express* on Microfilm, 1926-1982

The microfilms contain 100% of every issue, including but not limited to obituaries or death notices. If you know the exact date of death, you can go directly to the newspaper microfilms and look for a death notice or obituary. Microfilms may be copied for $.20 per page.

When the Courier-Express folded in 1982, its archives went to the Butler Library at Buffalo State College. According to the archive inventory, there are local and national obituaries from 1956-1982 in their collection.

For a complete list of other daily newspapers in Buffalo, see our free handout:

Death Notices and Obituaries: Where to look in Buffalo & Erie County Newspapers (available online at <http://www.buffalolib.org/content/grosvenor/guides-publications>).

Buffalo News* Death Notices on Microfilm, 1962-1976

The Western New York Genealogical Society (WNYGS) has special microfilms of the death notices from the Buffalo News from 1962 to 1976. Staff at the Grosvenor Room Microfilm Desk can help you find them.

Buffalo News* Database, obituaries from 1989 to present

This database offers full-text of articles from the Buffalo News, 1989 to the present. It includes obituaries, which are narrative articles about someone of prominence. It does not include death notices, which are considered classified ads and give only basic facts about the deceased and the funeral or burial. The Buffalo News database also does not include pictures or advertisements.

Researchers may use the Buffalo News database at every public library in Erie County on a walk-in basis. No library card or appointment is necessary. There is no at-home access. Obituaries and articles may be printed for $.10 per page, saved to a disk, or emailed. Click on "Research databases" on the following site:

<http://www.buffalolib.org/content/research>

Buffalo News* Website, death notices from 1997 to present

Not to be confused with the Buffalo News database is the Buffalo News commercial website, which anyone may access on the internet. It has an archive of death notices from Sept. 11, 1997 to the present. Death notices are available for free at the Buffalo News website for 90 days. After 90 days, they may be retrieved for a small fee. For death notices, see:

<http://www.legacy.com/buffalonews/DeathNotices.asp?Page=ArchiveSearch>

SCRAPBOOKS	NOTES
The Buffalo scrapbooks in GRO were compiled roughly from 1900 to 1960, and are comprised largely of local newspaper clippings and ephemera. All are indexed in the Local History File . The following volumes are of particular interest to obituary researchers:
GRO *F129 .B8 B58 Scrap-book of Local Obituary Notices and Biographical Sketches 1861-1864 [1921?]	Mostly Civil War casualties
GRO *F129 .B8 B692414 v.10, pp. 158-171 Buffalo Military Affairs	Vietnam War casualties from Western New York published on May 30, 1968
GRO *F129 .B8 B69265 Local Biographies	There are about 100 volumes in this set, which includes obituaries of prominent residents. All are indexed in the Local History File .
GRO *F129 .B8 B6928, vols.5-8 Local History [1901-1908, 1925-1926, 1928, 1941, 1944]	Various necrologies are scattered throughout these volumes. A list was appended to the GRO Ref. Desk copy of the Necrology by Steven Seegal (see Books , above).

VITAL RECORDS INDEX

The Buffalo and Erie County Public Library is a designated repository for New York State Vital Records Index on microfiche. There is a 50-year privacy restriction for death records, meaning that the fiche do not include deaths that occurred less than 50 years ago.

New York State Department of Health laws require us to ask for a B&ECPL library card or a picture ID from each researcher. Printing copies from the fiche is not permitted. Researchers may use one fiche at a time.

This index gives names and dates of death. To get a copy of the actual death certificate, you must contact the Department of Health in Albany or the city/town in which the death occurred. The Library does not have any actual death certificates, but librarians can help you find addresses for the appropriate offices that do.

1881 to 1913	Fiche includes all of New York State except Albany, Buffalo, New York City, and Yonkers
1914 to fifty years ago	Fiche includes all of New York State including Albany, Buffalo, and Yonkers, but still excludes New York City

WHAT ABOUT CORONER'S RECORDS?

Erie County Medical Examiner's Office has coroner's records from 1882 – present.

Reports are not open to the public. Copies are available to the next of kin. In order to obtain records write to the following address supplying as much information identifying information as possible about the deceased (i.e. name, age, where lived, etc.) and details of their death. Staff time is limited for this type of research, so the turn-around time will depend on staff workload.

Erie County Medical Examiner's Office
501 Kensington Ave.
Buffalo, NY 14214
(716)-961-7591

Western New York Genealogical Society Journal – GRO F118 .W46A; GRO current periodical shelving

The Society is indexing Erie County Medical Examiner's records in their journal. The record transcriptions begin in the September 2007 issue. The earliest date listed is Oct. 1878. Information abstracted includes name, age, nativity, residence, date of death, book and page number.

Proceedings of the Board of Supervisors of Erie County – Buffalo F127 .E6 S82

Brief details of inquests can be found in many early volumes of the proceedings (abt. 1878-1914). Details often include name of deceased, coroner, where deceased was found or where s/he was from, items found with deceased, when deceased was found, family members or other individuals associated with the deceased. To find the coroner's reports in the proceedings look in the index under Coroners or Medical Examiner.

WHAT ABOUT FUNERAL HOME RECORDS?

The Grosvenor Room only has records of the Stephan-Burns Funeral Home (See Books With Lists of Deaths, p. 5). Other funeral homes should be contacted directly for the whereabouts of records. For those that no longer exist, check Buffalo City directories and Local History File to determine when the funeral home went out of business.

According to the Erie-Niagara Funeral Directors Association (<http://www.enfda.org/index.html>), there are four things that could happen to the records when a funeral home closes:

1. They could go to a nearby mortuary
2. They could go to the local historical society
3. They could remain in the family who operated the original funeral home
4. They could be discarded
