Introduction

The index is divided into two sections. Individual names are found in the section containing these headings: Military, Bell Aircraft Employees, Births, Engagement Photos, Marriages – Bride, Marriages – Groom and Deaths. Be aware, in general, that photographs of more than three people are not indexed by individual name. Engagements, other than photos, are not covered and only those marriage listings that gave the name of both bride and groom are included. The indexes of individual names, other than military, are, by and large, limited to those of Western New York or those who had ties to this area. Also, there is little cross-over and each heading/index should be treated separately.

The second section, which begins with the subject headings: Bell Aircraft, Bell Departments – Western New York, Bomber Plant- Marietta, Georgia, Ordnance - Burlington, Vermont and Notables, deals with articles. Notables include local sports stars and photographs with more than three individuals.

Pagination of the journal begins with the cover, which is considered page one.

With some names having multiple listings, an attempt was made to insure that the individual indexed was the same person. However, given the number of employees, similar names are unavoidable and undoubtedly mistakes occurred.

As common for the era, though women made up 48% of the labor force in Western New York as of May, 1945 (Bellringer July 1945 p. 12), this fact is not reflected in the journal. By far the majority of the coverage is devoted to men and this bias can be seen in the index.
