INTRODUCTION

This guide lists sources of period and vintage photographs and illustrations of Buffalo, NY. Under each category (such as Breweries) are lists of images we have found of Buffalo breweries and where you will find that picture in a book.

Due to staffing limitations, we are not able to index many books in this fashion. After the pages of Buffalo pictures sorted into categories, we list additional publications known to be heavily illustrated with Buffalo pictures. Some of them are in our Rare Book Room and must be seen by appointment.

All of the books listed here can be used in the Grosvenor Room but not borrowed. In a few cases, there are duplicate copies that can be borrowed from the Non-fiction department of the Central Library.

**Important Note**: Before using any image for publication or internet use, be sure to check for copyright and acquire permission for use.

For use of images found in library collection, you will also need to obtain permission to capture a digital image and use for publication.

OTHER GROSVENOR RESOURCES	NOTES
Area Landmarks , v.1-11 + Index	From 1979 to 2000, the Buffalo News ran a regular feature called Area Landmarks. Each week, artist Lawrence McIntyre drew a pen and ink sketch of a notable building in Western New York, accompanied by a paragraph about its history. Those columns are collected and indexed in 3-ring binders on the Index Table in the Grosvenor Room.
Local History File , heading: Pictures	The Local History File is our newspaper index. It also features citations for notable essays, articles, or book chapters in sources other than newspapers. Look under Pictures to find some sources of Buffalo illustrations.
Vertical File , heading: Post Cards	The Vertical File is a collection of articles and clippings sorted into folders by category. Look under the heading Post Cards to see examples of Buffalo postcards collected by staff.
