The Floating City

Venice was founded after the fall of the Roman Empire, when people in northern Italy fled before invading tribes from Germany. Seeking refuge in salt marshes and mudflats off the coast of Italy, they invented an ingenious process for building on water rather than land. Venice went on to become a great maritime power, at one point having the largest navy in the world. Respected presenter Bob Poczik will take those attending on a splendid visual journey from Venice's founding to its current state as one of the world's great wonders and a major attraction for people from all over the world.
