

Downtown Central Library to Host "Indie Author Day"
Saturday, November 4
Part of National Effort to Support Local Writers

The Downtown Central Library at 1 Lafayette Square, Buffalo, will again host Indie Author Day with speakers, networking opportunities and resources for local writers and aspiring writers on Saturday, November 4 from 9:30 a.m.-12 noon.

The program is free and open to the public but registration is required at tinyurl.com/BfloIndie23 .

Indie Author Day will take place in the Library Auditorium, accessed through its own entrance on Clinton Street between Washington and Ellicott streets.

Indie Author Day schedule includes:

9:30-10:00 a.m. Light refreshments and networking, Auditorium lobby

10:00 a.m. Welcome and opening remarks

Featured speakers: Author Jeff Z. Klein, Book 'Em, Dano: The Ins and Outs of Getting Published

Author Brian Hayden, Discovering 111 Stories in Buffalo

Author Peggy Brooks-Bertram, My Facebook Book Project: Life in the Alley

Panel discussion: Christina M. Abt, Lisa Jacobs-Watson, and Gary Earl Ross

For more information/register visit: tinyurl.com/BfloIndie23 or call the Library System at 716-858-8900.

###