For Art Lovers of All Ages

Registration Required

Part of the Aurora Historical Society Speaker Series

Grace Meibohm is the third generation owner of the Meibohm Fine Arts, established by her grandfather, Carl H. Meibohm in 1901. She is known for her proficiency in framing, evaluating, and conserving fine art.

Connie Payne is a local artist and sculptor, who has spoken on Fournier at Roycrofters-at-Lage.

Discover the exquisite fine art collection featured at the Aurora Town Public Library. This cultural treasure showcases works from talented artists such as Alexis Jean Fournier, an influential figure of the Arts and Crafts movement, member of the Roycroft Community, celebrated for his naturalist pieces, and Sandor Leopold Landeau, renowned for his religious and scenic paintings, who joined the Roycroft Community. The library is also home to a portrait of Alexis J. Fournier, signed by A.V. Warshawsky.

Immerse yourself in appreciation of the talent that is quintessentially East Auroran as presented by local fine arts expert, Grace Meibohm.
