Join us Thursday afternoons for Code Club, an informal program that teaches kids ages eight and up how to write computer programming codes, build apps, and design web pages.

Work at your own pace and make new friends.

Participants must be able to read proficiently on their own.

Let’s make something awesome today!

Code Club is made possible through a grant from Institute of Museum and Library Services and Prenda.